HONGKONG, DECEMBER 7TH, 1880.

In one brief line Rutter takes a most important announcement, if authoritative. "The negotiations regarding Kuldja have failed," says the Agence Russes, must, if correct, have been decidedly premature in its anticipations of a favourable termination of the negotiations. The full significance of the telegram will at once be apparent to our readers. It is hardly likely that Russia will consent to again raise, on the question, but an ultimatum will now, in all probability, be despatched to Peking, on the acceptance or rejection of which will depend the maintenance of peace. It is impossible, of course, for us to pretend to say which party is to blame for the untoward result of the negotiations; probably both. We have already observed, however, that Russia wished to be, if not unembarrassed in Europe. The occupation of Duligno by the Montenegrins and the peaceable dispersal of that force the Naval Demonstration, has left Russia free to conduct other schemes for her aggrandizement, and may have influenced the turn affairs have taken with regard to the Kuldja dispute. It is idle to talk about the foreign policy of Russia being governed by any but selfish considerations, and there is no doubt that, given the strict neutrality of other foreign Powers, she has a good opportunity for wresting from China great territorial and trading concessions. There may be time yet for the Chinese Government to avert the contest by accepting Russian dictation, but that would prove a very bitter pill for Manchu pride, and more than they could swallow, we are afraid. They may require thrashing before they will be able to take the medicine.

It is seemingly as difficult to gather reliable information on the subject of the Loochoo dispute as it has been to gain trustworthy intelligence on the Russo-Chinese imbroglio. One week we learn from the Japan Gazette that it is "justified in stating that Mr. Igouze, Secretary of the Dajio-Kwan, was despatched to Peking some months ago to obtain from the Tsungli-Yamen a formal recognition of an acquiescence in the forcible annexation of the Loochoo Islands by Japan," but that Prince Kung "firmly and definitely refused the acquiescence asked, and the claims of China are held back for a convenient season, but are, in some, withdrawn." Following upon this we have an announcement in the Japan Mail, that it has been informed, upon what it believes is good authority, "that the difficulty between Japan and China has been definitely settled on the basis of the arrangement proposed by General GRANT, which would comprise the cession to China of the Miao-shing group at the northern end of Formosa, and the recognition by China of the action of the Mikado's Government at Loochoo proper." The real authority for the statement made by the Gazette appears to have been the Hochi Shimbun, while the Mail seems to have derived its inspiration from the Nichi Nichi Shimbun. One or the other of these sources must be incorrect, and we should like to know which of the two it is to be trusted. The Japanese Government exercises a rigid control over its sensitive Press, but it seems that this does not always extend to the suppression of doubtful intelligence. We do not say the censorate should be exercised to exclude any news of public interest, but it would be more usefully employed in correcting false intelligence than in suppressing honest utterances of opinion. Of course we know the Japanese Government has many difficulties to contend against, and the Japanese journalists, being somewhat inexperienced, may err as they may, and possibly unduly urge forward public opinion, but the Press laws should not be too rigorously enforced.

With regard to the reports relative to the relations between Japan and China on the Loochoo question, no good end can be attained by the publication of baseless canards, which are calculated to mislead foreigners and stir up ill-feeling among the Japanese against China. We hope the account of the situation given by the Japan Mail is the correct one. The settlement of the question therein shadowed out, though perhaps not entirely satisfactory to Japan, would be far better than a continuance of the dispute, much less an appeal to arms. It certainly affords a good basis for China to make a very nominal concession on, and the Peking authorities could hardly have any hesitation in closing with such a proposal if really made. It would be the height of folly for Japan and China to engage in a war over a question like this, and the sooner they recognise the fact the better.

It might suit Russia's game to promote a bad understanding between the two Empires of the Far East. All other European Powers would regret to see China and Japan come to a struggle which could not fail to prove disastrous to both.

We learn from Messrs. Geo. R. Stevens & Co., that the steamer Thales left Newcastle, N.S.W., on Saturday, the 4th instant, for Hongkong via ports of call.

The delay in issuing the Gazette, which only appeared yesterday afternoon, was not due to the publication in Japanese of the report of the document of the Colonial Secretary.

Saturday's Gazette contains the notification of the appointment of Mr. C. P. de Saenger to be Acting Official Translator under Ordinance No. 7 of 1873 during the absence of the Hon. C. B. Plunkett on leave.

By private advices from Bangkok, dated the 22nd ultimo, we learn "that the steamer Consuelo has gone to Java and the Dale to Singapore. The high freight rates on these ports have caused the steamer to be chartered for the present. Last settlements for Singapore 40 cents per picul."

Amongst the passengers by the C. T. Hook were four Annamese children, three girls and a boy, in charge of two Chinamen. When the steamer arrived in harbour she was boarded, as usual by a constable, who, suspecting something was amiss, took the children and the Police officer. The men were charged at the Police Court yesterday with bringing the children to the colony for unlawful purposes, and the case was remanded.

Says the Japan Mail.—"We are informed, upon what we believe is good authority, that the difficulty between Japan and China on the Loochoo question has been definitely settled on the basis of the arrangement proposed by General Grant, which would comprise the cession to China of the Miao-shing group at the northern end of Formosa, and the recognition by China of the action of the Mikado's Government at Loochoo proper."

The Agents here of the China Merchants' Steam Navigation Company have heard that the Company's steamer Kang-shi is on shore near Cape Cady, which is on the Tientsin Gulf side of the Huai-nan Straits. This will be the steamer signalled by the C. T. Hook, previous to her leaving through the Strait on her return to this port. It is hardly likely that the Kang-shi is in any peril, as her captain did not report the assistance offered him. The Kang-shi left here for Hiochow on the 25th ult.

In their T. report, dated Calcutta, 10th November, Messrs. Watson and Co. say:—"Since last report our public sale has been held, and the result was a success. The amount of 10,499 disposed of. There was a better demand, but prices showed little change, except for finest kinds and common brooms, which were rather dearer. The total export of tea from Calcutta during the month of November was 1,145,394 lbs. compared with 1,145,394 lbs. in the corresponding period of last year."

JOSEPH YUET AND OTHERS V. BAN HAP AND OTHERS.

The Attorney-General (Hon. B. L. O'Malley) and Mr. Francis, instructed by Messrs. Barrington and Wotton, appeared for the plaintiffs; Mr. Hayler, Geo. R. Stevens & Co., instructed by Messrs. Sharp, Taylor, and Johnston, appeared for Ban Hap and four other defendants; and Mr. McKean, instructed by Messrs. Stephens and Holmes, appeared for the remaining four defendants.

Mr. Hayler now summed up his case for the defendants. He said he had gone so fully into the case in his day and a half's speech in opening that for the plaintiffs and most of the facts he would not repeat. He said he would not repeat the evidence which had been given and to a comparison of the agreements of the 23rd February and 8th March on these points which had been made previously before the court and which formed to certain extent the subject of complaint. It was necessary very briefly to show from the evidence of Mr. Tan King Sing how the whole of this matter originated. He said he would not repeat the evidence which had been given and to a comparison of the agreements of the 23rd February and 8th March on these points which had been made previously before the court and which formed to certain extent the subject of complaint. It was necessary very briefly to show from the evidence of Mr. Tan King Sing how the whole of this matter originated.
